

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A game kit includes a set of cards placeable on a magnetically attracting playing surface and a set of point markers. The game is expandable and can include multiple players. The players randomly select a playing surface and decide the order of playing 5 the game. The game has a set of restrictions that guides the progress of the game. The game concludes when one player runs out point markers, there are no more cards to pick, or no more playing surface available.